

DR LAM CHEE MENG
Principal Autism Consultant & Psychologist

A practicing psychologist since 1985, DR LAM CHEE MENG graduated with a PhD in Psychology from the University of Auckland and was awarded a Postgraduate Fellowship under the post-graduate scholarship from the Medical Research Council in New Zealand.

Dr Lam has been trained in various assessment methods and intervention techniques for improving cognitive functioning and behavioural management. After receiving training in instrumental enrichment and the learning potential assessment device in Jerusalem, Dr Lam has been incorporating the ideas and applications in his clinical work.

Dr Lam currently holds the position of Principal Autism Consultant at the Autism Resource Centre (Singapore) and is a key consultant to Pathlight School, the first autism school in Singapore offering a unique blend of mainstream academics and life skills. Dr Lam is one of the principal consultants providing specialist autism training and coaching to professionals and educators as well as parents and caregivers in a wide variety of autism-related subjects.